The Hightower Science Building was built in 1953 by popular subscription. It was named for Mr. Frank J. Hightower in honor of his many services to the school. The newest building in the oval is the "home" building of the junior and senior classes.

The Chapel of St. Edward the Confessor was a gift from Mr. Frank J. Hightower to Casady School in memory of his family. An addition to the Chapel is an expansion for a large organ which was given to Casady by Mr. Reginald Auchincloss in memory of his wife. Construction of the Chapel began in 1948.

The Casady gynasium was built in 1956 as the first phase in the Casady Expansion program. The architect, Mr. John Rowlett, designed the newest building on the campus to be both modernly beautiful and useful. Having the gym as the basis of the sports program is a vast improvement over the old "barn" days, Griffith Hall, or the Dining Hall, was built in the spring of the first school year, 1947. The well-equipped kitchen produces fine lunches for the students. Besides being a dining hall, it is also the dance hall, a study hall, the assembly hall for debates and speeches, and the auditorium for the school plays.

To continue the plan of expansion for Casady School, the Board of Trustees this year has sparked the drive for finances for the new Casady Middle School. They have set themselves a goal of $400,000, all of which is to be spent on the middle school. Dr. D. H. O'Donoghue, president of the board, has announced that the new buildings should be completed by the fall of *59.

More plans for Casady expansion loom in the future, but the most immediate desire is to see additional classroom space for the middle grades which are now overflowing. Mr. Horace K. Calvert, secretary, and Mr. Brooks Hall, treasurer, have assisted Dr. O'Donoghue is heading the board this year.

As spiritual head of Casady School, The Right Reverend Chilton Powell's influence can be felt in many spheres of the school's life. A member of the Board of Trustees, father of two Casady students, and often a welcome Chapel speaker and celebrant at the week day communion service, he is probably best remembered, especially by the seniors, for his inspirational Baccalaureate address.

Since his ordination as Bishop of the Diocese of Oklahoma in 1951, he has continued his predecessor's interest in the school and has given willingly of his time and energy to the school.

HOWARD W TABER, HEADMASTER

Stoutly advocating Yile and soccer, Howard W. Taber completes his third year as headmaster of Casady School. Mr. Taber has been on the Casady faculty for nine years, first as head of the mathematics department and later as assistant headmaster. He graduated from Yale University, where he received his B.S. and M.A. degrees in Mathematics.

Under his guidance, Casady has continued to grow physically and scholistically. Not him ting his activities merely to Headmister, Mr. Tiber also takes the Monday merning Chapel service, teaches a math section, and coaches one of the intramural soccer teams.

GEORGE WHITNEY, JR., ASSISTANT HEADMASTER

Although Oklahoma has added a slight southern drawl to the cultured Harvard accent of our assistant headmaster, it seems nothing can keep Mr. Whitney from adding an r to the words that end in a

Really Mr. Whitney is an enconomy measure for Casady since he ably combines the task of history and math teacher with that of baseball coach and assistant that is but the chief benefit of this economy package is that his lectures can be heard in all the class-rooms of Miller Hall while he occupies only one

FRANCIS C. BLOODGOOD, REGISTRAR

In 1947, Mr. Bloodgood came to Oklahoma to help the infant Casady gets its start, and since then he has been trying to install his own peculiar brand of culture in each English student who has come his way. Aside from being head of the English department, he is registrar of the school

Although seemingly wrapped up in the life of a Casady teacher, Mr. Bloodgood's first and real love is the theater. His favorite play seems to be The Mule Animal, perhaps because in it the enterprising actor can elicit the true "boff" from a sympathetic audience.

The class of 1960 has always distinguished itself as one of the outstanding classes at Casady. Although we list several members of our class list year, George Bennett, Dick Dye, Chris Sturm, Cathy Wallace, Andy Campbell, and Bill Flompson joined our class to make it the largest jan or class in the last riv of the school. Our size has enabled us to part capate in every aspect of school life.

In the icidemic ispect, Ninex Adims, Steve Creekmore, I tura Patrish, and Give An thony have led our class to new heights. We were well represented in the Student Council by Inn Street, Ninex Adims, Im Pischal and Steve Dunlip, while Tom Parker was the Treasurer Tom Pirker and his stiff did an outstanding job of publishing the Circi, which had a larger news coverage than any piper in the pist. John Raines won the first henorable mention it the Association of Oklahoma Artists this year.

On the sports field, Andy Campbell, Roger McHroy, David Harden, and George Bennett lettered in toothal, while cheerle, ders Jin Paschal and Cissy Carlson helped lead the Pep Club in cheering the Cyclones.

Whether or not we have been the best jun or class at Casady, we do not know; however, we do know that we will endeavor to become the best senior class ever to graduate from Casady.

This year, the class of '61 contributed a lot to the welfare of Casady. In football, Bobby Browne, Mick Taylor, Lance Rentzel, and Chuck Freeman were all regulars. In baseball last year, Steve Kline and Dale Mitchell lettered and will be important factors in the team's outcome this year. In basketball, Bill Browning, Peter Russo, Lance Rentzel, Tom Rucker, Dale Mitchell and Steve Kline have seen a lot of action this year. Petrina Russo and Virginia Thomas both were cheerleaders this year also.

The sophemore class also has its scholars in Kerry Roach, Virginia Thomas, and Roland Walters. However, even though these people add a lot to the class, nothing would be complete without Bobby Browne. Just ask Mr. Walker if it isn't so.

This class, with the addition of six sparkling personalities this year, should be a top one.

This year's freshman class is an energetic one and seems to be active in almost all school activities.

Sus in Hettmin, Johnny Swinford, Jim Benefield and Pitsy Bynum represented the class on the Student Council.

New faces on the scholastic front this year were. I'm Botkin (recruited from the eighth grade) and Doug Woodward.

"Hosses" in the sports category included Jill Bell, Anne Savage, Ann Foerster, and Lynda Leney. Bruisers on the male's de are led by Johnny Swinford and Clark Nye, both lettering in football this year.

John Powell, just back from Europe, has some interesting photographs which have good prospects for awards.

Dramatic achievements have been attained this year by Myra Harrison, Millonn Bullard, John Paschal and Betty Nichols Providing entertainment, Classroom wit is shown by Lynn Harrison, Barney Loeffler, Nancy Patterson and Ernie Young.

With this combination, is well as in abundance of good boks, the Class of '62 seems to have a bright future.

The eighth grade class, having outgrown its presumptuousness, prepared to enter the ninth grade its first in the upper school. The faculty has done a good job in preparing this class, the fruit of their toil shows up in I bby Cooke, Joan Beckham, Bill Davison, Peggy Pew, and Archie Edwards. The scholarsh p department was somewhat impaired last year by the loss of Toni Botkin to the freshman class. However, she has been amply replaced by newcomers Steve Mark and Beverly Diggs. Karen Jenkins is the leading actress of her class, having appeared in several choice roles for the Dramatics Club. Peggy Pew and Archie Edwards represented the eighth grade in the Student Council.

The athletic action is fully supplied by the benefactor to the Lower School sports program, Pat Johnston, Inc. His henchmen, Tom Rainey, Chris Frederickson and Bruce Hershey, ilso do a fine job of stacking up the points for the blue and white. Athletes of more graceful figure are Joan Beckham, Karen Jenkins and Harley Brooke-Hatching.

As this All American class winds a path toward college, it will continue to thrive in scholastic stature as well as in that of playsical contest. However, we have passed over one of the most important functions in school life, that of social activities. Here no names need be mentioned, because the list is too long.

I'm sorry, Father, I didn't mean to.

This year, the seventh grade slowly, but surely became part of the school. Our representatives for the student council were Rass Walker, Ann McIldowney, and Linda London. Most of the seventh grade started well this year, but Ann McIldowney. Robert Beebe, Rass Walker, Dai e Wyman, Bill Smith, Chack Marstrand and others started extremely well.

Although the seventh grade his sports with the eighth grade, many seventh graders play on the first strings of football, soccer, basketball and baseball terms. Our garls are also italetically inclined. Among these Amazons are I ada London and Sally Plallips.

All in all, the class of '64 has the potential to become one of the best in the history of the school.

STUDENT COUNCIL

OFFICERS, I. to r.: Jim Hardwick, president; Ron Bonebrake, vice-preudent; Tom Parker, treasurer; Steve Anderson, secretary.

This year the Student Council aimed towards service, projects, social functions, and administration. The Council is a representative of the student body, and in accordance with this it has tried to inform the students of its activities, and give them a voice in the government. This year the Council had a voice in the management of the school's affairs.

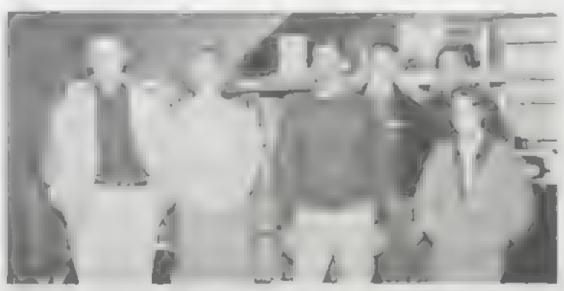

The Council performed various services for the school such as printing football and basketball programs, and the school's telephone directories.

A new system of electing class representatives was decided upon. It consists of having a run-off in each grade of the two top candidates for each position. An official record will also be kept of the voting in every election.

The Student Council led a number of diverse and worthwhile projects such as charity collections taken in chapel every two weeks, and a general clean-up day in which the students performed various jobs to help the general appearance of the school. One of the Student Council's most gala social functions was the Bowery Ball, held in April. As a contribution to Casady's "culture," a series of interesting films and lectures was presented to the school.

The Council also distributed bulletins to inform the student body of its business. Class meetings were also held to discuss the Council's projects, the school's problems, and the students' ideas.

We hope the Student Council in years to come will profit by our success as well as our mistakes.

We make no grandiose claims for this year's Turster. We think that you, the reader, possess enough taste and perception to recognize the excellent quality of this tome without our telling you how really good it is.

We think that we're financially sound, haven't checked all the advertising contracts yet, but if we aren't we'll send someone the bill because we don't like to be left holding the bag. Next year's Twister staff had better be nice to us, or it may start in a hole.

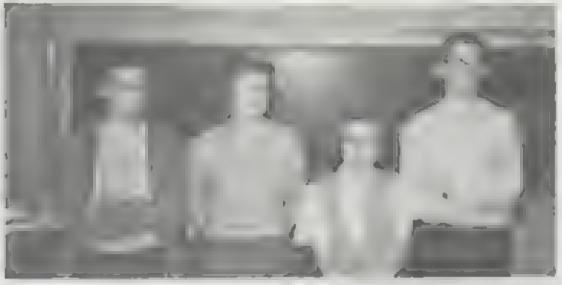

Our main trial and tribulation has been deadlines: such extracurricular activities as homework and senior theses kept interfering, plus that inborn senior trait, procrastination. Nevertheless, we have arrived, trailing faculty advisors, printers, and advertising copy behind us

All suits for libel should be directed to Clark Honnold, business manager.

You won't believe it, but this yearbook is coming out on time!

STAFF, I. to re Steve Creekmore, Elizabeth Gallagher, Ann Porch, John Rainey.

The Logos, Casady's new literary magazine, is basically concerned with thought. As an "idea" magazine, it publishes the best efforts of the students in the fields of mathematics, religion, art and history as well as more conventionally literary material such as poetry and fiction. The majority of the contributions come directly from class assignments, although some of the work is done on the student's own initiative in his particular field of interest.

The word "Logos" has a double significance, It means both "word" and "the trinity." Logos is a Greek word and appears in the Bible. This double meaning has a special significance as the title of a magazine of this sort in a school such as ours.

Not only is the magazine interested in written ideas, but also in photographic and artistic expression. Very little of the art work and none of the photography is done as a part of a course of study at the school.

Approximately twenty-five Casady "thinkers" are represented in this year's magazine. The staff itself, however, is relatively small, including only Ann Porch, Elizabeth Gallagher, John Rainey and Steve Creekmore.

This year it was possible to grind out only one issue of the magazine. However, it is the plan in the future to have two issues, one appearing immediately after Christmas and the other at the end of the school year in May.

The Logos was started this year to fill a need in the overall picture of life at Casady School. It was felt that the students were not being given sufficient incentive or recognition for outstanding ideas and original thought. As a mere mass of information does not form a complete and well rounded education, the Logos tries to provide an outlet and a goal for thinking and perhaps for talent which might otherwise be left untapped.

The 1958-59 Creer has been marked by a definite attempt at more thorough coverage of school news and the inclusion of provocative letters to the editor and editorials.

The basic ideas of the Crier have centered around these attempts and most innovations in the paper stem from this thinking. Six of the twelve issues included an insert sheet increasing the length of the paper from 4 to 6 pages so that special emphasis could be given to areas of the school not ordinarily receiving adequate mention.

A somewhat format was achieved by the use of traditional headline writing methods avoiding the one line headline, and discouraging "cute" material. The gossip column as well as the "Senior Synopsis" was eliminated and replaced by special features when the newspaper devoted space to tributes in such extra curricular fields as athletics, dramatics, student council, and library. Interviews with notables visiting Oklahoma City which were held by Crier reporters and published in the Crier included outstanding figures such as historian Geoffrey Barroclough and soprang Victoria de

Los Angeles.

The use of a News Brief feature compensated for the lack of short articles and opened up new fields of reporting.

One observer commenting on the fact that the newspaper offered to pay $.10 for each mistake of spelling or fact in the paper said that the Crier was the only newspaper he knew of which paid its readers for thorough reading.

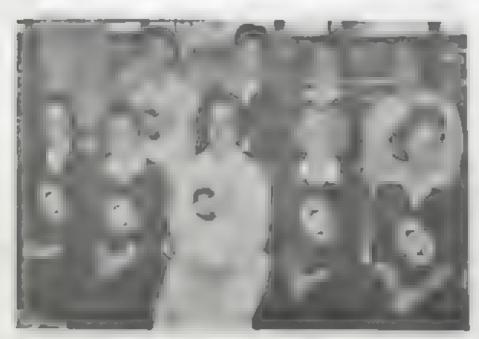

The single feat which most newspaper staffers consider to be their greatest achievement was the paper concerning the death of Bishop Casady. At this time early in the year, the newspaper staff was able to come out with a front page story on the event on the afternoon after it happened. This is looked upon by many as the most timely reporting ever for a Casady paper.

The staff was reorganized on a departmental basis as opposed to the traditional editorship basis. The year was also marked for the newspaper by a change in sponsors with Mr. Bloodgood receiving an appointment as head of all publications and Dr. Botkin taking over the newspaper.

The Casady Gales Pep Club started its year with many new proclamations and amendments to the constitution. At the first meeting the girls decided on an entirely new policy, that of Probation, for their year of 1958-59. When a girl doesn't follow the constitution and perform her duties as a member of the club she is put on probation, her emblem is taken away temporarily, and she has to earn her way back into the club by doing duties with the provisional members for three weeks.

The Gales began the year with such money making projects as addressing envelopes for Connolly's Inc., and modelling in the Brown's style show. When football season began, they were busy selling combination season tickets for football and basketball. They delivered the football schedules all over town. Laura Parrish, Susie Stuart, Diane Frew, and Nancy Burch headed the pep assemblies for football and basketball.

The Pep Club gave a picnic and bonfire on the peninsula for the football boys. The hurncane lamps reflecting on the water and burning dummy floating cross the lake made the evening a real success. The Gales were also hostesses to one of the biggest social events of the school year—the FOOTBALL FLING. The party was an all school dance given in the gym in honor of the football team.

The most important and gratifying thing the club did all year was their charity work at Thanks-giving.

Compliments of Mr. Carlson's truck, the Pep Club caroled for the faculty at Christmas time.

To close the year the Pep Club plans to donate money to some branch of the school.

This has been an outstanding year for the Little Theatre. It has not only succeeded in its presentations of plays, but also in its financial income. The Club gained many new members, and interest throughout the school was greatly increased. This was pleasing to the directors, Mr. Walker and Mr. Gersman, and all others.

Under the direction of Diane Howard, treasurer, and Nancy Adams, business manager, the club had a financial boom. Presiding over the club was Ann Porch. Vice-president was Tom Parker and Nina Wade-Dalton had the job of secretary.

In charge back stage were Jeff Heavner, stage manager, and John Paschal. The stage was greatly improved this year with the club's projects—a new curtain and new hangings. These improvements were seen in the first event of the year, the annual one-act play contest. Chairmen of the various committees of the club were Betsy Savage, make-up; Millonn Bullard, program; Carol Hood, publicity; and Mary Glenn Yeary, production.

The first event of the year was the One-Act Play Contest. There were four plays chosen for production: the winning play, "The Island" by Ann Porch, "Man Alone" by Mary Glen Yeary, "Les Jeunes Filles" by Myra Harrison, and "Make Believe Jenny" by Elizabeth Gallagher.

Taking the parts of this three-act play were Link Bynum, Mary Anne Mark, Nincy Adams, Steve Creekmore, Ann Porch, Coleman Harris, Steve Toland and Tom Parker. Briefly, the play concerns a group of dead people and their rewards after death.

In May the lower school play will be presented. It has not been chosen as the yearbook goes to press.

It is hoped that the club can continue to grow and follow in the successful tootsteps of the past.

The function of the Intramural Council is to select the girls' All Star and Alternate teams. The Council consists of a manager, and as sistant manager, and two members elected from each grade. Intramural play-offs are divided into two sections; therefore, there are two separate Council meetings—the lower school (seventh and eighth grades) and the upper (the ninth through twelfth). The manager and assistant manager meet with both Councils

Members of All-Star teams are selected by the Council on the basis of their sportsmanship and ability to get along with others as well as their actual athletic ability. Therefore, the Council must be "on the ball" during the sports period each day, so that it will select All-Stars and Alternates wisely

The Council determines a point system, by which All Stars and Alternates earn their blazers and crests. Members of the Blazers are proud of their accomplishments and are working towards organizing a girls' letter club

STUDENT STORE, I. to r.: Steve Hill, Roland Walters, Forrest Armstrong, John Harrison

The Casady Student Store, run by the students of the Sophomore Class, is that class's project. The store, this year run by Forrest Armstrong and Beverly Edwards, contributes a great deal to the Student Council's yearly funds. Although it is only open for half an hour after lunch, it contributed over $700 last year to the Student Council and this year promises to be just as good.

DANCE COMMITTEE

We shall never forget the lovely Christmas and Commencement Dances this year, made possible by the Dance Committee. The Committee consists of four seniors and two juniors. Each year the outgoing seniors are replaced by two more juniors and two more seniors. Therefore, the two experienced members remain on the committee, from the year before.

In previous years, the Dance Committee has produced another major school dance. However, this year, due to the Pep Club Dance and the Bowery Ball, the committee felt that the school had been "all danced out," and that it was not necessary to have any more social func-

SCIENCE CLUB

This year, the science club completed three projects. Besides organizing the science fair and sponsoring the projects of the members of the club, it sponsored seven science films which were shown at two week intervals at the school. A lab period for some of the seventh graders was organized and conducted by Mr. Walker. These young scientists finished enough projects so that the science fair was split into two divisions—lower and upper school.

The Stock Club was formed in January of 1918 and has created a new interest in the students regarding stocks and how the stock market works. Mr. Auchincloss started this club to teach students how capital is invested in industry and how the economy of the country is handled. There have been various interesting speakers coming out to talk at intervals and also several films pointing out how the economy of the United States is run.

The Casady Bird Club, under the leadership of Mr. Warner, enjoyed a fairly successful year even though its membership was not too large. The highlight of the year was the Christmas bird count. #### FOOTBALL

This year's edition of the Cyclones has surpassed all the pre-season expectations. At the beginning of the season no one would have chanced a prediction of a 7-1 won-loss record, but the Cyclones showed everybody what a great team could do When the season was over, the Cyclones stood proudly with a 7-1 won-loss record that put them in the same class with the two S.W.P.C. champs who had preceded this year's team.

Where did the great football team spring from? It was developed on the practice field by the fine coaching of Mr "Hoot" Gibson and Mr. John Gavula. This fine coaching mixed with the fighting spirit of the boys jelled into a hard hitting team. Just ask some of the teams they hit. The student leaders did a fine job; they were co-captains Ron Bonebrake and Hughes Coston.

The Cyclones broke in their new uniforms on Choctaw The Cyclones were slow getting started, but they picked up and were really clicking as the game ended, which was shown as 20-8 on the scoreboard.

The second game was with McGuinness, our city rival In previous games the Cyclones had whipped the Irish five times. McGuinness felt that this year was the year to beat Casady, but the Cyclone stonewall defense held them to no gains in the first half, and the team went on to defeat them handily 20-8.

In the third game of the season, St. Gregory's big front line, averaging over 200 pounds, almost stalled the Casady Cyclones. The score see-sawed back and forth most of the game, and as the end of the game drew near the Cyclones found themselves on the small end of the score, The time grew less and less, and in a last ditch drive the Cyclones put the ball across the goal line to win 30-26.

The next game was a big one, St. John's was the leader in the southern half of the conference. The first half was hard fought and ended 0-0. In the second half the Cyclones got into gear and punched two scores across to win 14-0.

The final game was with Greenhill and was played by the "B" team, while the "A" team watched from the stands. The "B" team beat them 44-6.

BASKETBALL

Coach Mr. Bullard

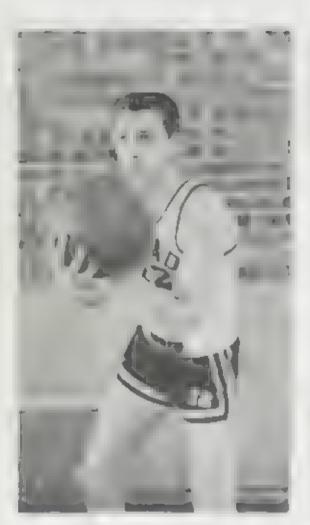

Well, we finally made it! For the past seven years Casady's basketball teams have been getting better and better. This year the Cyclones were definitely a team to be proud of. Their season record was 16-3, which is terrific considering they had never before had a winning season.

For the past three years Casady has finished fourth in conference play. This year they broke out of their rut and went clear to the top to become Casady's first conference champion basketball team. For the first half of conference play they went to Austin, where they put down the three rivals in the northern half of the conference. St. Mark's 45-36, Greenhill 91-17, and St. Stephens 70-30.

The big tournament where each northern team played every southern team was held in the Casady gym. The first game was with Kinkaid, who had a 3-0 record in the southern conference play. Casady took command and handed them a 54-40 defeat. From there they went on to defeat St. John's 50-40, Allen Academy 52-40, and Lutheran 54-40. They won our first conference championship in basketball and stood undefeated in conference play with a 7-0 won-lost record.

The basketball team fared very well in competition outside the conference. They played Dunjee, which was ranked eighth in Class "B" basketball in the state. The Cyclones fought hard and squeaked out a 38-37 decision. Casady was defeated by this same team later in the season with a score of 35-50.

Casady split two decisions with McGuinness, the Catholic state champon. The first game with McGuinness was a decisive 45-38 victory for the Cyclones. In the second game we found the tables turned, and they defeated us 60-52.

The regular season included games with St. Mary's Star-Spencer, Choctaw, Moore and Marlow, all of whom we defeated except for Marlow. This team handed us our second defeat of the season.

While racking up the points, the boys racked up some awards, Bill West and Eddie Shapard were elected to the All-Conference team, while

The credit for coaching this great team belongs to Mr. Gerald Bullard, who in two years built up a conference champion basketball team with a 16-3 won-lost record. Coach Bullard had brought basketball up in prominence alongside football.

Eddie Shapard and John Danstrom did a fine job as the student co captains of the team,

Coach-Mr Whatney

As the Twister goes to press, the baseball season is just getting under way. Mr. Whitney has some fine material this year. The catchers are Hughes Coston and Randy Deal. Dale Mitchell is first baseman, and Eddie Shapard is at second base. Steve Kline is the short stop and Bill Butler is at third. In the outfield are Bill West, Jim Hardwick, Andy Campbell, Lance Rentzel, and Bill Browning. Peter Russo is utility infielder.

The pitching staff looks very good this year with Bill West, Tom Rucker, Steve Kline, and Dovle Tunnell

The schedule this year is going to be a tough one, since most of the schools the team plays many A and AA schools. They play Putnam City, Northeast, Midwest City, Edmond, Del City, Catholic, Southeast, and Classen.

The team will go to two tournaments this year. They will go to the State Class "B" tournament in Norman this April and in May they will travel to Austin to play in the conference tournament.

Although this year's team's schedule appears to be rather difficult, they should pull through in fine style.

The Cyclones were ably coached by Mr. Whitney, who entertained us all with his remarks from the sidelines.

TRACK

Lance Rentrel Ron Bonchrake, Bill Butler, Mack Taylor

Unfortunately the Twister must go to press before the track season has gotten under way. As it looks now Mr. Gibson is aiming at the Conference track meet in Houston on March 21. He has the team out burning up the cinder path practicing for the big meet. This year the track team will be strong in the hundred yard dash with Bill Butler as the best prospect. Ron Bonbrake, Bill West, and Chris Hornby will be the speedsters for Casady in the relays. Chris Hornby, who has never run in a track meet before, is astounding everyone with his times in the eight hundred and eighty yard and the mile runs. Bill Browning is the team's high-jumper and runs the hurdles with Bill Butler. Hughes Coston will be the shot-put man this year

With the balance of strength on this team, it appears that 1959 will be THE year for the Cyclone track team.

SOCCER

We are very proud of this year's soccer team because they have gone undefeated. They posted a 4-0 won-loss record, the best in the history of the school The team scored more goals in official games this year than the total of the goals scored by the teams of the last two years. The defense was also outstanding. It kept the opponents' goals per game average below 1 which is a considerable feat.

The first game of the season was with Central State. The Cyclones fared very well and defeated their opponents 2 to 1. The second game was also with Central State and Casady again defeated them by the score of 2 to 1.

The third game was with the traditional rival St. Mark's of Dallas. Casady controlled the ball for most of the game, but couldn't get a goal and the game ended in a scoreless tie. The final game of the season was the best. Casady traveled to Dallas to play St, Mark's on their field. The Casady team was in high spirits and kept the St. Mark's goalie jumping. The Cyclones defeated them handily with a score of 2 to 1.

Mr. Sharp, the soccer coach, is due congratulations for coaching such a fine team. Jim Hardwick was captain of the varsity team.

In intramurals, the team captained by Jim Hardwick edged out Ron Bonebrake's team in a late season surge to take the intramural championship.

As this irticle is being written the golf term looks rather good. Mr. Warner, the coach, wen't have trouble picking his top man this year, because last year's top man, Steve Dunlap, is returning and there are some other fine kolfers to back him up. Other members of the team include John Danstreim, I om Parker. Dec Replos le, und Lee Bollinger.

GIRLS'

The year began with interest high in both archery and softball. Miss Gentry was busy during sports periods because both of these sports were going on at once; she is to be applauded for her capable management of this dual program with the able assistance of Mrs. Whitney. Some necks were craned towards the football field, but when intramural time came, attention was centered on who would emerge the victor in the initial competition. In archery the jumors for shed in first place, while the seniors were second, and the freshmen were third. The freshmen, however, won first in softball with the jumors second and the sophomores third.

We moved into the gym for volleyball which was extremely pleasant after the usual fall dust and wind experienced outside during softball and archery. The juniors again won first place, with the freshmen second and the sophomores third.

SPORTS

With a gust of north wind and a kiss from Jack Frost, Casady amazons moved outside once more to begin our favorite sport, hockey. Although there were some bruised shins and some longing glances towards the basketball boys enjoying the warm gym, hockey was generally lauded as envigorating, slimming, and great fun. With the emphasis on the team which would travel to Hockaday, each girl worked particularly hard to wield her stick with out tending skill, and to move down the field with egregious alacrity. A defeated team returned from the Dallas excursion, but we all agreed that it was fun. We then entered into intramural competition with the juniors again capturing the top position, while the seniors were second and the sophomores were third.

With badminton, tennis, soccer and basketball, someone might surprise the juniors and steal the trophy,

In blue-white competition the blues won archery, softball and bocky, while the whites won bowling. Volleyball was a tie.

The Casady Elementary School was conceived four years ago by the Board of Trustees of Casady School. Mr. Theodore Bradley was brought from Virginia to start the school which would comprise grides Kindergarten through Six. Facilities were rented in All Souls' I piscopal Church and the school opened in the fall of 1986 with one hundred forty eight students and a faculty of nine. The present enrollment is three hundred twenty, four students (three sections in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades two sections in Kindergarten, first second and third grades), and a faculty of twenty-five.

The Casady Flementary School follows a traditional curriculum but utilizes the latest proven methods of teaching and the best possible textbooks.

Three periods each diviare devoted to learning communication skills. The need for a sound foundation in phonics is realized throughout the reading and spelling program. The Kinder guten starts its first grade readiness program is soon as the children are ready for it, sometimes before Christmas. French is taught in all grades. A full the deed science laboratory is used by the students in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades. When a section is ready for new and more difficult work, such work is given them, however, students progress through the school grade by by grade, even though an individual may gun more than two years academically in a given year. The readenic success of the school is due to small classes, hard work, and a concerned faculty.

The most important person at Casady Elementary School is the individual student. He starts his day with a fifteen minute Chapel Service in company with the entire school. The Christian principles and devotions of the chapel services permeate all the activities of the school. After chapel the student starts his regular academic day, which runs until 3:10 for the lower grades, and 4:00 for the upper grades.

The rapid growth of the Casidy Hementary School has been due to the educational successes of the individual student.
